Breast Cancer Awareness
Changes in the Breast

A change in breast tissue doesn’t automatically mean you have cancer. Some changes in the breast are normal for your stage of life.

If you’re concerned, of course call the doctor, but there’s probably not a reason to panic.

PROBABLY NOT ANYTHING TO WORRY ABOUT

Many changes in the breast are because of fluctuating hormones, such as when a woman is about to start her menstrual cycle or when she’s pregnant. Here are some times you may notice a difference in your breasts that’s not worrisome.

Before or during your cycle. Your breasts may feel swollen or tender, and that’s normal. You may even feel a lump because of extra fluid in your breast. You should always call a doctor if you feel a lump, but the doctor may schedule a return visit when you’re not on your cycle to check the breast.

During pregnancy. Your body undergoes a lot of changes during pregnancy, and one of them may be larger and more painful breasts. They may even feel lumpy as the glands that produce milk gear up for breastfeeding. While breast-feeding, you may also get a painful condition called mastitis when a milk duct becomes blocked. Mastitis causes the affected breast to become warm and feel lumpy and painful. You can get medications from your doctor to help.

Before and after menopause. Your hormone levels are changing, and that can make your breasts feel tender and lumpy. As your levels drop off after menopause, these conditions usually stop.

If you’re taking hormones, such as menopausal hormone therapy or birth control. These hormones may cause your breasts to become more dense, making a mammogram more difficult to read. Let your provider know about these and all other medications you take.

SYMPTOMS TO BE CONCERNED ABOUT

If you feel any change in your breast that you’re worried about, even if it’s explained by one of the above reasons, call your doctor and have it checked out. Some symptoms that should raise a red flag are:

A lump or firm feeling in your breast or under your arm. It could be a hormonal change, but it could be something more nefarious. Do regular self-exams so that you know what your breasts feel like but remember, they’re no substitute for a mammogram.

Nipple changes or discharge. This discharge can be any of several colors or textures. It could be something as simple as an infection of the side effect of medications, but it should always be checked out.

Itchy, red, dimpled or puckered skin. Again, this could just be minor irritation, but it could be something worse. Call the doctor.
Lowering your Cancer Risk

There are lots of factors that contribute to your risk of breast cancer, not just genetics or family history. Lower your risk for breast cancer by following these tips from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

KEEP A HEALTHY WEIGHT

Try to keep your body mass index, or BMI, at between 18.5 and 24.9. This is a ratio or your weight to height, but it may not be accurate for all body types. This is particularly true after menopause, the Susan G. Komen Foundation says. Talk to your health care professional about an ideal weight for you.

EXERCISE REGULARLY

Physical activity helps you maintain a healthy weight, reduces risk of cardiovascular disease and diabetes, lowers your blood pressure, reduces your risk for stroke, can ease arthritis pain and reduce depression and anxiety. Get at least 150 minutes of moderate activity or 75 minutes of vigorous aerobic activity per week. Talk to your doctor before you begin an exercise regimen.

LIMIT ALCOHOLIC DRINKS

Alcohol consumption raises the risk of cancer proportional to the amount of alcohol consumed, the CDC says. That means the more you drink, the more at risk you are for breast cancer and other cancers. Limit drinks to one per day.

HORMONE REPLACEMENT THERAPY AND ORAL CONTRACEPTIVES

Women who take these kinds of replacement hormones can affect your risk of breast cancer. Talk to your health care provider about the type of therapy or birth control you take and the associated risks.

BREASTFEED YOUR CHILDREN

Mothers who breastfeed their children have a lower risk of breast cancer, ovarian cancer, type 2 diabetes and high blood pressure. The longer a woman breastfeeds, the greater the benefit. Women who breastfeed for a lifetime total of more than two years got the most benefit from the practice, the Susan G. Komen says.

Breastfeeding may be particularly good at lowering the risk of estrogen receptor-negative cancers, which do not need hormones to grow.

If you have a high risk of breast cancer, there are options, Susan G. Komen says. These include risk lowering drugs such as tamoxifen or raloxifene or a prophylactic mastectomy. Talk to your doctor if you think these options are right for you.
How to Do a Self-Exam

You should be checking your breast for changes at least once a month, according to the National Breast Cancer Foundation and Johns Hopkins Medical Center.

About 40% of diagnosed breast cancers are detected by women who feel a lump and get it checked out. Here’s how to properly conduct a self-exam.

IT’S NOT A MAMMOGRAM

A self-exam is useful, but remember, it’s not the same as a mammogram or other imaging that can detect cancer in its very earliest stages. For the most effective medical care, combine self-exams with regular doctor’s appointments and age- and health-appropriate cancer screenings.

Some signs to look for during your breast exam are nipple tenderness, lumps, thickening, changes in skin texture or enlargement of pores in the skin of the breast. Also examine your underarm area as the breast tissue spreads around your sides and armpits.

LYING DOWN

When lying down, your breast tissue will spread against the chest wall. Place a pillow under your shoulder and raise that arm above your head. Using the opposite hand, move the pads of your fingers around your breast, covering the entire area and armpit. Use light, medium and firm pressure. Check for nipple discharge and lumps, then repeat for the other side.

IN FRONT OF A MIRROR

With your arms at your sides, look at your breasts as you raise your arms over your head. You’re looking for changes in the contour, swelling, dimpling of the skin or changes in the nipples. Rest your palms on your hips and press firmly to flex your chest muscles. Look for dimpling, puckering or changes, particularly on one side.

Don’t be alarmed if your breasts aren’t symmetrical; most women’s aren’t.

IN THE SHOWER

Hold one arm up and behind your head. Using your fingertips, check the entire breast and armpit area on that side by pressing down with light, medium and firm pressure. Look for lumps, thickening, a knot or any other changes.

If you notice any changes, don’t panic. Most lumps, even, aren’t cancer. But you do need to check with your doctor for a clinical exam whenever you have concerns. Combined with regular medical care and more in-depth screening, such as mammography, self-exams are a powerful tool in the early detection and successful treatment of breast cancer.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month and a mammogram is an important annual screening for early detection of breast cancer. Our technology includes 3D mammography – imaging that can improve cancer detection by 40%.*

Our team of healthcare heroes is here for you and taking the extra steps to ensure safe care:

- Enhanced cleaning and disinfecting procedures
- Daily staff screenings
- Mask requirements and social distancing in waiting areas

You’ve been caring for your family.
Now, it’s time to take care of yourself.

Genes and Hereditary Cancer

About 3% of breast cancers are the result of inherited mutations in the BRCA1 and BRCA2 genes. These two genes normally protect you from getting certain cancers, but mutations can prevent them from working properly.

These mutations can cause breast, ovarian and other cancers, but not everyone who inherits the mutation will get cancer.

HOW IT WORKS

Everyone has two copies of the BRCA1 and BRCA2 genes, one from their mother and one from their father. If a person inherits a mutation from one parent, they can still have the normal copy from the other parent. Cancer occurs when a second mutation happens that affects the normal copy of the gene so the person no longer has a properly functioning BRCA1 and BRCA2 gene. Unlike an inherited mutation, the second mutation is only present in the cancer tissue.

OTHER MUTATIONS

Breast cancer can also be caused by inherited mutations in genes other than BRCA1 and BRCA2. In some families with a history of breast cancer, mutations can be identified through genetic testing using multi-gene panels.

GENETIC TESTING

Genetic testing is usually recommended, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention says, if you have a strong history of breast cancer, a moderate family history of breast cancer and are of Ashkenazi Jewish or Eastern European ancestry, a personal history of breast cancer and meet certain criteria, a personal history of other cancers or a known history of inherited gene mutation in your family. Your testing should be paired with genetic counseling to help you get the most from your results.

Having a family history of breast cancer doesn’t mean you have an inherited mutations. The CDC says that most women identified as being as having an increased risk for BRCA1 and BRCA2 mutations based on family health history do not have the mutations. In fact, some women who the BRCA1 and BRCA2 mutations have no known history of breast cancer.

Talk to your health care provider to see if you’re a candidate for genetic testing and counseling to assess your risk for breast cancer. You should bring with you a family health history, especially if you have a family history of breast and ovarian cancer.

State laws may vary from state to state. California and Nevada law permits individuals over 21 years of age and adults 18 years or older (in possession of a medical marijuana card) to legally purchase marijuana. It is illegal to possess, consume, sell, or even gift, any amount of marijuana outside medically approved use in the state of Arizona. The transportation of marijuana even if the transport is from one legal state jurisdiction to another is illegal. State laws are always subject to change through the passage of new legislation, rulings in the higher courts (including federal decisions), ballot initiatives, and other means.

Track officials got the green flag from the city last week to reopen Havasu 95 Speedway. “We’re coming back!” said track promoter Bill Rozhon. The 2020-21 season will begin on Nov. 14 at the quarter-mile asphalt track, located at SARA Park. As of last week, racing divisions and start times had not been announced.

There will be an open practice on Oct. 17 from 10 a.m. until dark. Cost is $50 for driver and car; $35 for additional pit crew. All drivers in all divisions are welcome.

The full schedule will be released later, but the Thanksgiving weekend race, which is always an exciting day race, is set for Nov. 28. It will feature the Sigma Engineering Solutions Late Models 100-lap main. Other divisions are to be announced.

Typically, the track would have opened the new season in October and would have already had three races. However, restrictions due to COVID-19 not only delayed the start of this season, but forced the track cancel the final two races of the 2019-20 season. Those two April dates featured championships in five of the six classes, along with the popular Waterless Boat Race. The last race was on March 7.

The track plans to recognize the 2019-20 track champions during the season-opener. Jeremy Orozco (Street Stocks), Jeff Prieur (Factory Stocks), Parker Malone (Late Models), Maxwell Romzek (Bandoleros), Brody Wake (Animal/125 Outlaw Karts), and Brayton Roberts (206 Outlaw Karts).

The track will host an Auto Swap Meet and Car Show on Oct. 24 at 7 a.m. Cost is $15 for sellers and $5 to enter a car in the Car Show. The cars will be lined-up on the track, the Swap Meet will be set up in the pits, and the public will park in the spectator parking lot and enter through the pit entrance. The front gate will be closed. Call Bill Rozhon at 928-716-6300 with any questions.

Farmers Market expands to outdoors

Over the summer, the Lake Havasu Farmers Market had to scale back the number of vendors due to social distancing and hot temperatures keeping the market inside The KAWS.

The next market, on Saturday, Oct. 17, from 8 a.m. to Noon will have vendors both inside and outside of The KAWS, 2144 McCulloch Blvd. in Havasu’s Downtown District. It is open to the public.

“We have 29 vendors signed up so far,” Market Manager Regan Ross-Robertson said last week. “We will have a new micro-green vendor and some of our most loved artisans will be back after the long summer. We are excited to see everyone again!”

Find fresh produce, baked items, handcrafted creations from local artisans, and more.

Outside vendors will have a stunning mural, created by local muralist Rachel Kaiser, as their backdrop. Some of Kaiser’s work can also be seen inside The KAWS.

There will be the inaugural Community Youth Market on Nov. 14 for young entrepreneurs from ages five to 18. Go support these local youth as they launch their own start-up businesses.

In addition to the Farmers Market on the first and third Saturdays of each month, Ross-Robertson recently launched the Farm Box Program. Shoppers can go online at www.lakehavasufarmersmarket.com/shop to pre-order Farm Boxes. There are two sizes - Kayak Box with a variety of four to six items, or the Pontoon Box, with a variety of seven to nine items. Orders need to be submitted before Friday at 8 p.m. the week prior to the Market, and then picked-up at

Voting starts for your favorite scarecrow

You might start seeing scarecrows popping up at businesses around Lake Havasu City. That’s because it is time for the Scarecrow Contest Fundraiser for Lake Havasu Firefighter Charities.

For the ninth year, participating businesses will have their scarecrows on display, along with a donation box, from now until Oct. 23. There is no theme this year. The public can donate money, which will serve as their ‘votes’ for the People’s Choice Award. All the funds raised will benefit local youth programs offered through Lake Havasu Firefighter Charities.

Last year, 20 businesses signed up for the contest. A panel of judges will vote on the Cutest, Funniest, and Scariest scarecrows. Those three, along with the People’s Choice winner, will be displayed in from of the fountain at Wheeler Park on McCulloch Boulevard. The other scarecrows will be displayed at the business’ request. The scarecrows will be at Wheeler Park from Oct. 28 through Nov. 4. The public can drive by and see the display.

There is no cost to enter the contest. To register your business, contact Sarah Ross at 928-854-0893. After the business registers, a donation box will be provided.

All of the proceeds will support Lake Havasu Firefighter Charities.

Parks & Rec offers more activities

As Lake Havasu City begins the slow and steady process of turning up the dimmer switch on reopening from the COVID-19 pandemic, the Parks and Recreation Department has a few announcements.

The Aquatic/Community Center has reopened for exercise classes, lap swim, open swim, pickleball, and meeting room space. Park Ramada space at Jack Hardie Park, Rotary Park and London Bridge Beach are once again available for reservations.

The Youth Talent Show will be Oct. 29 at 6 p.m. at the London Bridge Beach Stage this year to allow for more social distancing. See separate story for more information on the Youth Talent Show.

The Fall Fun Fair and the October Concert Series have been postponed until spring when larger crowds are allowed to participate.

The City would like to remind everyone that as its facilities begin to reopen, it is important that residents and visitors continue to follow recommended health guidelines to keep the community safe and facilities open.

Wise giving tips during Pink Ribbon Month

Every October, countries across the world observe Breast Cancer Awareness Month to increase support and awareness of this disease. According to the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), breast cancer is the second most common cancer among U.S. women.

Yet, the World Health Organization (WHO) does offer some promising data, showing the probability of cancer deaths decreasing steadily from 2000 to 2015. While this downward trend is expected to continue through 2030, there is still no cure, and funds are needed to advance research efforts.

There are countless ways to contribute, and consumers help raise millions of dollars for breast cancer research each year, often by purchasing “pink ribbon” items. However, people should exercise caution when they give to ensure their money is being used as advertised. Use these tips from BBB’s Wise Giving Alliance before you donate:

• Shop smart. Some companies donate a portion of the sale of specific items, designated with pink ribbons or packaging. When shopping for “pink ribbon” items, see if the promotion is transparent about which charity it will benefit and how much of the purchase will be donated. Watch out for vague claims of proceeds benefiting unspecified charities.

- Check the charity. Charities accredited with BBB Wise Giving Alliance meet the 20 BBB Charity Standards. If you are considering a donation to a charity that is not familiar to you, go to Give.org to view its charity report or find trustworthy organizations to donate to. When researching a charity, pay close attention to its name, as some questionable charities may use names similar to those of established organizations.

- Participate carefully. Some charities host fundraising events in addition to marketing promotions. If this interests you, gather all the important information before signing up. Is there a participation fee or are you required to sign up a minimum number of sponsors? Always research the charity or group organizing the event before you register.

- Take action. If your preferred charity is not holding any events or promotions during Breast Cancer Awareness Month, contact them directly to see how you can volunteer or donate on your own time. Every type of contribution helps!

Beach Auto: Where Uniqueness Thrives with Quality Rides

Beach Auto and RV Sales is a car dealership located at 739 Lake Havasu Avenue North that offers great deals on high-quality used vehicles. Matt Emerson, the owner of Beach Auto does not want to sell cookie-cutter cars that you can get just anywhere. His main focus is to provide a unique variety of vehicles that will make anyone feel confident and stylish cruising down city streets. Beach Auto Sales tries to maintain a standout baseline models. Some of the vehicles you can expect to find at Beach Auto are four-wheel drive trucks, jeeps, and sports cars like Challengers and Shelby’s. Their most popular and largest selection is trucks and jeeps, but they also have vans and SUVs.

Matt has been working around cars since he was only six years old, and his love of cars is why he opened Beach Auto Sales. Having lived in Havasu for thirty years, he worked at Bradley and Anderson for a while before opening his own dealership in May of 2013. Starting with three cars and growing ever since, Matt enjoys getting to interact with people of all walks of life; he shares that “every day is different, o two days are the same, so it stays interesting.”

Those at Beach Auto Sales work hard to ensure the best quality for their customers by finding loaded vehicles with low mileage, a clean CarFax, and no accidents. Beach Auto Sales vehicles all come with a 30 day limited warranty. Most of our vehicles still have years of factory warranties remaining. At Beach Auto Sales we also offer extended warranties for up to 7 years. We also do a 142 point inspection on all of our vehicles. Beach Auto Sales has a crew of five, and they pride themselves on their friendly customer service. They strive to make purchasing a car easy and stress free. Matt feels it is important that customers have a comfortable experience and should never be pressured into buying a vehicle. He and his knowledgeable team are always happy to work with people and answer any questions.

Beach Auto Sales is proud to have a speedy purchase process as well. Matt happily states, “It takes about two hours to buy a car from the time you show up to the time you’re being financed.” It’s clear that Beach Auto Sales is all about taking care of its customers and staying flexible. They even do trade-ins! They will take anything such as guns, gold, silver, and boats. On top of that, if you have a vehicle you’re looking to sell, Beach Auto Sales does consignments, and they will pay cash for your vehicles.

9th Annual Recycling Fair

Every fall, Dr. Sharon Harvey’s ASU 101 class reuses materials to created projects for the Recycling Fair. The fair highlights how easy it is to take unwanted or discarded items and reuse them for something purposeful or artistic.

ASU 101 is a class that connects first-year ASU students with an instructor and connects students with each other. Dr. Harvey focuses on local sustainability and waste management as well. The content is meant to introduce first-year students to the unique culture, challenges and opportunities at the nation’s largest university. ASU 101 also teaches students about the New American University Design Aspirations. The New American University is ASU’s reconceptualization of 21st century higher education.

This year, over 20 projects were on display, including photo print outs from the international students who are attending class remotely from their home countries. Faculty judged the projects, choosing their top three in the categories Useful and Artistic. Projects included reused plastic food and beverage containers to hold plants, decorated used car parts as art, a giant multi-media robot named Becky who promises to hold your books and other knick-knacks, a wine cork coaster, bookmarks and keychains made from shrunk food wrappers, bottlecap and horseshoe windchimes, and so much more!

Design Aspirations

- Leverage Our Place
  ASU embraces its cultural, socioeconomic and physical setting.

- Transform Society
  ASU catalyzes social charge by being connected to social needs.

- Value Entrepreneurship
  ASU uses its knowledge and encourages innovation.

- Conduct Use-Inspired Research
  ASU research has purpose and impact.

- Enable Student Success
  ASU is committed to the success of each unique student.

- Fuse Intellectual Disciplines
  ASU creates knowledge by transcending academic disciplines.

- Be Socially Embedded
  ASU connects with communities through mutually beneficial partnerships.

- Engage Globally

Students enjoy checking out the projects, including this art made from car parts and a tool box.

First place in the artistic category, ASU wind chimes.

Who knew chip bags and food wrappers could be shrunk in the oven and used as keychains or bookmarks!

First place winners: Karina Sumner, first place with the ASU wind chime; Dayna Hobday, first place for usability with her ASU Sun Devil spatula, which she made from scrap metal from the welding shop where she works.

Welcoming message from the principal

Welcome back to our Nautilus Family for the 2020-21 school year.
We are living in uncertain times but Nautilus Staff and I are confident that we will get through this together.

The beginning of the year always holds such excitement and we promise to share with you our hopes and dreams for the coming year. I speak for all Nautilus staff when I say, what a blessing and a privilege it is to serve you as we become one family this year. We are eager to work with you and our students no matter the challenges that may be ahead of us. No matter what the venue, we are committed to giving our students the opportunity to grow academically, socially, and in a safe environment.

As we open up we will continue to put the need to be safe and responsible first in our daily routine. Please keep your son or daughter home if they have any symptoms of being sick. I will continue to communicate with you through my weekly phone blasts as I did last year. I am looking forward to continuing the efforts of our kindness challenge by following Rachel Joy Scott’s vision of “looking for the best in others, dreaming big, choose positive influences, speak with kindness and keep the positive chain of reaction going” here at Nautilus.

If you drove past the school you can’t miss our new Marquee. I would like to thank our PTSO and our District for supporting the efforts in the purchase of our marquee. Through the last three years, our PTSO, alongside the school district, have fundraised the money needed for the purchase of the marquee.

We have also enclosed our lobby in efforts to secure our building with support from the district and bond money from the override. The plans to secure our building as well as security cameras throughout the campus will help in our efforts to maintain and improve the safety of our students. We have plans to also improve our playground with new equipment and a safer play area in the near future. We very much appreciate the support of our district and their distribution of funds from the last bond and override.

In closing one of the greatest connections I have seen the past three years as your principal is the genuine compassion shared between staff, students, and parents, This past year as we walked around campus empty of students this last quarter was gut-wrenching to see. I recall seeing staff members light up as they saw their students when we had...
packet pickups, our Easter parade, and at our end of the year celebration. The expressions, smiles, tears were real as we tried to make the best out of a tough situation. Through it all we became a family that cared and cherished our past interactions and figured out ways to stay connected, I truly believe we will connect this year and celebrate our family at Nautilus Elementary School.

Thank you,
Roger D. Burger
